

HER BLUE DRESS TURNED GREEN IN PAINT SHOP

And Cohen's Light Checked Suit Got a Similar Change of Color.

AND SCHULMAN'S COAT.

Mrs. Cohen, Cohen Himself and Schulman Make Green Show in Police Court.

Three of the greenest looking persons that ever appeared in the West Side Court were Frank Cohen, his wife Lena and Joseph Schulman. Their presence was not due to a premature celebration of St. Patrick's Day, either. As Mrs. Cohen said, it was all Schulman's fault.

Mr. Cohen had a grudge against Schulman, who is a painter. Yesterday he obtained a summons for Schulman's appearance in court, demanding that the painter show cause why he should not pay for three days' work which Cohen had performed.

Mr. Cohen determined to see to it personally that his husband got fair treatment, so she showed up in her best togs to-day and went with him to Schulman's paint shop at No. 38 Ninth Avenue.

Schulman was in the cellar mixing paint-green paint. He had finished one five-gallon can and was just starting another.

Mrs. Cohen, relieving her husband of the summons, headed down the stairs to the cellar.

Brings the Summers.

"I have a summons for you, sir," said Mrs. Cohen, as she faced Schulman.

The painter, surprised and excited at the intrusion, got up from the little stool on which he had been sitting, to do what he felt best became entangled in some paint.

Well, that five-gallon can that had already been mixed seemed to tremble when the mighty Schulman (H. F. Frost) hit it with his hand. Cohen's neat gray overcoat, which covered his working clothes, received the full force of it.

Was Schulman angered? You should have seen him.

"Go a summertime for me, sir!" said the painter, "I will go to jail if you don't mean to let your son come in."

Mr. Cohen had descended the stairs and was standing right alongside of Mr. Cohen. Mrs. Cohen had checked suit, while Mrs. Cohen had on a blue tail-made and a big black Merry Widow hat with a long black plume.

Lets Paint Fly.

Schulman grabbed the five-gallon can on which he had been working last and let it fly.

There was a scream, followed by a rush for the stairway.

Policeman John J. O'Brien, based the police and ran into the paint shop. What he saw startled him, but he couldn't help but smile.

The Cohenes and Schulman went to the West Side Court with Metcalf.

"What in the world does all this mean?" asked Magistrate Krotel.

Mr. Cohen and Schulman were questioned by McCarthy tried to explain for them.

"Look at me, Judge!" said Schulman, regaining his composure.

"You're a sight to behold, all right," returned the magistrate.

"On, just you wait until I lay my hands on that man!" shouted Mrs. Cohen. She pointed to the large, pretty green hat of Mrs. Cohen, to her green suit and began shouting.

Who Used the Paint?

"Who is the culprit?" asked the magistrate.

"I am," spoke up Schulman, squinting himself and assuming a dignified air.

"Well, it appears to me as if the Cohenes and Schulman were guilty," McCarthy tried to explain for them.

"But, your honor," protested Schulman, "I lost all my paint—and my nose—over this ruined suit."

"Considering that," replied the magistrate, "I'll let you off with a fine of $1."

Said fine being paid, there was a sharp cut of the scales and the statement made upon the method which was used. His successor, who was elected in November, will take office on Jan. 1.

BINGHAM WANTS $50,000.

STRIKE ADVISER SENT TO PRISON FOR YEAR TERM

Tailor Yannicola Sentenced by Justice Zeller for His Incitation.

Francesco Yannicola, a tailor, of No. St James street, who was president of the Lamplighters' Union, was sentenced to the Penitentiary to-day for one year by Justice Zeller, in the Court of Special Sessions, for conspiracy.

Yannicola was convicted a week ago. Evidence was adduced by Assistant District-Attorney Whiteside that Yannicola, fearful that he was about to lose his position, with its $100 a month salary, urged the lamplighters employed by the Websbach Street Lighting Company to go on strike last August and commit acts of violence. Yannicola was defended by Morris Hillquist, the Socialist.

Three members of the Lamplighters Union testified for Yannicola. They said that of the 100 men employed by the Websbach concern, only 12 were members of the union. Yannicola, it was sworn, called a meeting of the union and advised the men to strike and to all the damage they could, urge them to carry stones and other weapons.

In sentencing Yannicola Justice Zeller said:

"The Court believes that men of your class bring labor organizations into disrepute. If it were not for men of your character, employers would say no more than what you say. Your position was at stake; your salary of $100 a month—and you were determined to make trouble. The lamplighters are very resentful. It may have been for your machinations they would have stuck to their jobs."

HAIN'S TALES MEN IN SPECIAL JURY ARE PROTESTED

Improperly Drawn, Is Claim of Counsel for Slayer's Brother.

The prosecution of T. Jenkins Hains, whose trial for participation in the murder of William Anns by his brother is set for Dec. 13, to-day struck a snag when Justice Crane, of Queens County, signed an order requiring the District Attorney, Sheriff, County Clerk and Commissioner of Juries to show cause on Monday why the entire special panel of jurors should not be set aside.

Eugene N. L. Young, of counsel for Hains and his brother, Capt. Peter C. Hains, reared this new obstacle to a prompt trial. His objections to the special panel, proffered after a long delay by District-Attorney Barron, has a firm foundation in the code, he claims.

Young got his order upon showing that the panel was drawn in the same manner as an ordinary panel, in the County Clerk's Office, and in the presence of the Sheriff, County Clerk and Commissioner of Juries. He contended that it should have been drawn in the presence of either a Supreme Court Justice or a County Judge.

The law says: "The County Clerk must bring into court all the boxes, wherein ballots containing the names of trial jurors are deposited, and must, in the presence of the parties, publicly draw from such box or boxes as the Court directs, the number of additional trial jurors specified in the order."

"Look at me, Judge!" said Schulman, regaining his composure.

"You're a sight to behold, all right," returned the magistrate.

"On, just you wait until I lay my hands on that man!" shouted Mrs. Cohen. She pointed to the large, pretty green hat of Mrs. Cohen, to her green suit and began shouting.

Who Used the Paint?

"Who is the culprit?" asked the magistrate.

"I am," spoke up Schulman, squinting himself and assuming a dignified air.

"Well, it appears to me as if the Cohenes and Schulman were guilty," McCarthy tried to explain for them.

"But, your honor," protested Schulman, "I lost all my paint—and my nose—over this ruined suit."

"Considering that," replied the magistrate, "I'll let you off with a fine of $1."

Said fine being paid, there was a sharp cut of the scales and the statement made upon the method which was used. His successor, who was elected in November, will take office on Jan. 1.

LOS ANGELES ENTRIES.

He Doesn't Get It! He'll Take Captain's Bags to Headquarters.

Police Commissioner Bingham became wroth, then sarcastic, to-day when asked when he expected to move into the new Police Headquarters building. After declaring that he had hoped to be there now, he added:

"But, thanks to slow work and the refusal of the Finance Department, I don't think I will be able to get into the new building before next July. The refusal of the Board of Estimate to give me the $50,000 I asked to supply the new Headquarters with the necessary desks, tables, carpets, &c., is a big handicap."

Just think of the Police Commissioner of New York City having to go without carpets on the floor of his office in a building like the new Headquarters building!

"But I'll take some of those beautiful rugs and carpeting and have them put on the doors of the captain's rooms in the station houses and use them on the doors of my offices. That will help some."

OAKLAND ENTRIES.

SMILES

Come have a smile, ye earners Of wages, unemployed.

For don't you know that sorrow With pleasure is alloyed?

Luck may have turned against you, But you can bring it back By sending a World Want Ad. Straight out upon its track.

World "Situation Wanted" Advertisements Find Work When Work Is To Be Had. A 12-Word Ad. Costs One Quarter. The Quicker the Better.

Advertisements may not be inactive. It certainly will not—find it.

Only One SHROOM QUININE

That is LAXATIVE SHROOM QUININE Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used

World over & Cured in One Day. See the World.

Prominent Persons Who Figure To-Day in the Petticoat Franchise Discussion

$1,000 BATHROOM FOR T. ROOSEVELT, MILL HAND.

THOMPSONVILLE, Conn., Dec. 4.—The $1,000 bathroom paraphernalia of Theodore Roosevelt will be installed next month in his new apartment in the home of his employer, Robert F. King, in Enfield street. The equipment includes the most luxurious porcelain thus ever seen in the village. The fixtures are to be of the highest grade relative to living in keeping with his income of $1 per week, and will maintain comfortable bachelor apartments.

WAS DELIRIOUS WITH ECZEMA

On Chest, Back, and Head—Pain, Heat, and Tingling Were Excruciating—Nerves in Exhausted Condition—Sleep Badly Broken.

CURE BY CUTICURA SEEMED LIKE MAGIC

"Words cannot express the gratitude I feel for what Cuticura has done for me. My daughter, Adelaide, is fifteen years of age, and had never had anything but the mildest hay fever. Her skin until four months ago, when an eruption broke out on her chest.

The first symptom was a redness, and then followed thickening and blisters which would break and run. I took her to a doctor, and he pronounced it to be eczema of very bad form. He treated her, but instead of being checked, the disease spread. It showed itself on her back, and then quickly spread upwards until the whole of her head was affected, and also the hands. The pain she suffered was excruciating, and that with that and the heat and tingling, her life was almost unbearable. She became run down in health, and at times was very feverish, languid, and drowsy, and occasionally she was delirious. Her nerves were such low tone that she could not bear cold stones.

In spite of the cold weather she would insist on having her bedroom window open, and would lean out on the window-sill. She did not have a proper hour's sleep for many nights.

The second doctor we tried failed to cure her, and then we tried a third, and he really do not know what we should have done if we had not read how Cuticura cured a similar case. I purchased Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills, and before the Ointment was applied the disease disappeared.

It really seemed like magic. Her hair is coming on nicely, and I still apply the Cuticura Ointment as I find it increases the growth wonderfully. Mrs. T. W. Hyde, 1, Omega Place, Brentwood, Essex, England, Mar. 8, 1907.

Norris will be subpoenaed before the coroner, when the inquest is held. Meanwhile, he is not to be found at his office and usual places of resort or newspapermen. He was to have been at his office this afternoon, but when reporters went they were told that he had changed his mind.

"I had a long talk with Mr. North yesterday," said Mr. Tilton. "He told me that his relations with Mrs. Doty were a little bit more than that of her lawyer, although he denied that he had ever contemplated marriage with her. In fact, he said the idea of marrying her had never entered his head.

"Mrs. Doty came to see Mr. North Monday, but what passed between them Mrs. Norris did not tell me."

Mr. Tilton also said that Mrs. Doty was at the office on Thursday, but that she failed to see Mr. Norris, as he was out at the time. It was then that she came under the $100 clause which allows for private purchase.

"I told that agent that he would get no order for machines from me. I am going to fill my payrolls out by hand. I do not object to the form, but I do object to the method, and that is why I say some 'gilt-edged' folks know how to put certain things over the plate."

When Comptroller Metcalf was asked about the new payroll sheets, he said:

"Another crazy crack by Coler. Any kind of machine with a wide margin can be used for those vouchers. It's not the way he talks."

Personally I believe in woman's suffrage, but I am not an enthusiastic advocate of it, because I do not regard it as very important matter.

I am unable to see that there has been any special improvement in the position of women in those states in the West which have adopted women's suffrage as compared with those states adopting them which have not adopted it.

Politically I believe in woman's suffrage, but I am not an enthusiastic advocate of it, because I do not regard it as very important matter.

I am unable to see that there has been any special improvement in the position of women in those states in the West which have adopted women's suffrage as compared with those states adopting them which have not adopted it.

Politically I believe in woman's suffrage, but I am not an enthusiastic advocate of it, because I do not regard it as very important matter.

I am unable to see that there has been any special improvement in the position of women in those states in the West which have adopted women's suffrage as compared with those states adopting them which have not adopted it.

Politically I believe in woman's suffrage, but I am not an enthusiastic advocate of it, because I do not regard it as very important matter.

I am unable to see that there has been any special improvement in the position of women in those states in the West which have adopted women's suffrage as compared with those states adopting them which have not adopted it.

Politically I believe in woman's suffrage, but I am not an enthusiastic advocate of it, because I do not regard it as very important matter.

I am unable to see that there has been any special improvement in the position of women in those states in the West which have adopted women's suffrage as compared with those states adopting them which have not adopted it.

Politically I believe in woman's suffrage, but I am not an enthusiastic advocate of it, because I do not regard it as very important matter.

I am unable to see that there has been any special improvement in the position of women in those states in the West which have adopted women's suffrage as compared with those states adopting them which have not adopted it.

MAHLER BROS.

SIXTH AVENUE AND 31ST STREET

Saturday's Striking Specials!

Exceptional values, each demonstrating the economics of "Mahler" merchandise. Despite the insignificance of the prices the style and quality are up to our most critical standards.

Caracul Cloth Coats, 2.50

(Sizes 10 to 6 years.)

Very jaunty box effects, as illustrated, and interlined. Red velvet and black soutache trim the turn-back cuffs and collar; fancy channel buttons. Value $4.00.

Caracul Cloth Coats, 3.75

(8 to 12 year sizes.)

The same smart model; value $5.50; of identical designs, but for older girls.

Tots' White Bearskin Coats, 2.00

(Sizes 2 to 6 years.)

Very pretty style, double-breasted; pearl button trimmed; box effect; breasted; pearl button trimmed; box effect; nicely lined; high collar, turn-back cuffs. Value $3.50.

MATCHLESS VALUES IN MEN'S FURNISHINGS!

Derby Ribbed Underwear Natural Gray Wool Underwear</h